EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

Financial Matters in New York City

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Foreign financial news continues to improve, and a feeling is growing here that the crisis at London has passed. Private dispatches to bankers confirm this view, and say that improvement extends to all important continental money centers. Also, that while the Bank of England rate [illegible] prime discounts are doing in London at [illegible] per cent. New York banks to-day have over twenty-seven millions of legal tenders, showing increasing strength and an increasing disposition to liberal discounts of commercial paper. Advices from the interior are all brighter, showing a [illegible] revival of business and confidence. [illegible] and produce exports continue [illegible] Freights to Europe are high.

The Cuban Question.

NEW YORK, Nov. [illegible]—W. H. [illegible], Chairman of the Cuban Anti-Slavery Committee, [illegible] Henry [illegible], its secretary, will leave to-morrow for Washington to present to President Grant a petition signed by [illegible] colored men, embracing every State in the [illegible], praying that belligerent rights be accorded to the Cubans.

[illegible] at the Brooklyn Navy Yard [illegible] the sloops-of-war Kearsarge and Juniata ready for sea. At noon to-day, under equally pressing orders, the torpedo boat Admiral Porter was launched. She will be ready for active operations in a few days. All the officers about the yard are greatly excited over the news from Havana. The principal theme of discussion to-day at places where merchants congregate was the slaughter of the Captain and crew of the Virginius, and a feeling of indignation was universal, all asserting that the killing of the crew was unjustifiable, and demanded prompt action on the part of the United States Government.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—The news of the massacre of the captain and crew of the Virginius creates great [illegible] here. Captain Joseph Fry [illegible] was a native of Florida, aged 46. He entered the Naval Academy in 18[illegible], and remained in the navy until 1861, when he resigned and entered the Confederate service. He leaves a wife and several children, the youngest aged four years.

S. S. Millery(?) died at Pensacola, Florida, to-day.

The Cuban Press on the Virginius Slaughter.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Cuban press defends the action of the Government executing the people captured on the Virginius. Twelve insurgents were shot at Havana yesterday.

The Virginius Slaughter.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A special from Havana gives a full account of the capture of the Virginius by the Spanish gunboat Tornado, and says at the time of [illegible] the Virginius was flying the American flag, which was pulled down by the Spanish officer and a Spanish ensign hoisted instead. A court martial was held on board the Tornado and all persons were tried as pirates. The Virginius had papers for Colon and all her passengers appeared on her papers as laborers for the railroad. Accounts differ as to the position of the Virginius at the time of her capture.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—No official news has been received at Washington from Cuba to-day.

Seized.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1[illegible].—Books of [illegible] & Co., silk importers of New York, were seized to-day. The firm is charged with having undervalued importations of silk to the extent of about $200,000.

Rosenzweig Gets a Dose of New York Justice.

Rosenzweig was tried for the crime of abortion and the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

BOSTON, Nov. [illegible].—W. F. Whipple's cassimere mills at Cavendish, Vermont, were burned to-day. Loss $100,000.

Attempt at Wholesale Murder.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 1[illegible].—The train from Brownsville was thrown from the track yesterday by a bar of iron laid on the rails. The engine and one car filled with passengers was wrecked, but only one person, a lady, was seriously hurt.

Yellow Fever—Expulsion from Memphis City Council of the Acting Mayor.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 12.—To-day, for the first time since the 2d Sept. there has not been a single death from yellow fever.

Paul Cicalla, acting Mayor during Mayor Johnson's illness, was to-day expelled from the Council by a unanimous vote, for [illegible] relief supplies in the name of poor widows and using them himself.

Another Bank Thief.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 12.—S. L. Woodwell, Cashier of the Commercial National Bank, confesses to a defalcation of about $45,000. He says the money was lost some years since in speculations.

The [illegible] and Other Savages.

OMAHA, Nov. 12.—An officer is here with instructions to provide for the removal of that portion of the Modoc tribe now at Fort McPherson, Indian Territory, without delay.

Miscellaneous.

Active preparations are being made for the coming fight between Allen and Hogan, which is to take place on the 18th.

[illegible], Nov. 12.—The [illegible] Manufacturing Co., which suspended some weeks ago, has arranged with its creditors and will resume work in a few days.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Captain Duncan, U. S. Shipping Commissioner, is accused of monopolizing the whole business of shipping seamen, and of having 42 agents for the purpose, whom he pays out of money received instead of paying the same into the U. S. Treasury.

Irving, the [illegible] Nathan murderer, has promised [illegible] further revelations about the murder if [illegible] the prosecution against him for [illegible].

WASHINGTON [illegible]

[illegible] Cuban Waters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The [illegible] to Cuban waters [illegible] and their [illegible] They will join the North Atlantic squadron. The vessels of the navy have been so much reduced in number that it has been somewhat difficult to promptly reinforce our squadron in [illegible] of emergency, but in the course of a few days all that can be made available will be sent to Cuban waters, in accordance with the determination of the Cabinet at its meeting yesterday. It is stated the President and all the Cabinet fully agree that if the Madrid Government is unable to enforce its authority in Cuba, the United States will be compelled to assert its powers in all cases where the interests of citizens of this country and its own honor require the interference.

Revenue Receipts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The receipts from customs at the following ports for the week ending [illegible] were—New York, $1,436,[illegible]; Philadelphia, $118,[illegible]; Baltimore, $128,[illegible]; Boston, $2[illegible].

Suicide of a Banker.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Whitman C. [illegible], partner in the banking house of Riggs & Co., shot himself this morning.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

From Paris

PARIS, Nov. 12.—In the Assembly to-day a motion was offered by the Government postponing the debate upon Leon Lay's interpellation regarding the failure to order elections to fill vacancies in the Assembly until the day following that upon which the vote is taken upon a prolongation of President MacMahon's powers. After a heated debate the motion was adopted. The Committee on Prolongation, headed by M. De Rammusat, to-day had an interview with MacMahon. The latter stated he had nothing to say modifying in any way the language of his message to the Assembly. He instructed them to hasten their labors in the best interests of the country.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—The Committee on Prolongation have adopted the proposal of M. Casimir Perier, that President McMahon's term be extended for five years beyond the duration of the present Assembly, and recommends that it become a part of the Constitution after constitutional bills are voted upon.

From London.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A special dispatch from Paris to the London Daily Telegraph says Col. Stoffel will be tried by a civil court at Versailles, charged with using contemptuous language toward Government prosecutions in Bazaine's court martial.

Baron Lyveden died yesterday, aged [illegible].

There was a serious riot last night at a meeting in favor of home rule in Kilkenny. The mob stoned the police, who charged upon them and made several arrests.

From Berlin.

[illegible], Nov. 12.—Count Von [illegible] in the Ministry of Prussia. His successor will probably be [illegible] Von Kemeke.

The Prussian Diet opened to-day. Herr Kamphausen, Vice President of the Ministry, read the Royal speech. It is moderate in tone and mainly [illegible] to local subjects.

From Madrid

MADRID, Nov. 14.—The insurgents [illegible] have opened a heavy fire on the [illegible] naval forces of the Government.

THE DEAD PUGILIST.—A New York dispatch of November 1st says: The remains of John C. Heenan arrived here yesterday in charge of Jim Cusick, his trainer. Cusick says that a few days before Heenan's death he felt much better, and that he went out shooting. This effort was apparently too much, and he became much worse. Still, however, he pressed on toward California, hoping the air would improve his condition.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Mamie Hall, owned by Wm. Hall, of San Jose, will be in the great race of Saturday next. Following are the average pools: Stevens's son [illegible] Daniels $24; True Blue $170; Hubbard and Mamie Hall $26. That is $75; Joe $140, Blue $170, Hubbard and Hall $25.

Greenbacks 92[illegible].

The trial of Harris, mate of the ship Sunrise, indicted for cruelty to seamen on board that vessel, was resumed to-day in the U. S. Circuit Court. August [illegible] was examined as witness for prosecution. He said he saw [illegible] Martin knocked down by the mate, and while he was down Harris kicked him several times with his boots in the breast. He also saw him beat a sailor named Brown with a [illegible] when the ship was near Sandy Hook. The same man went overboard about two weeks afterwards. The prisoner paid close attention to all of the testimony and took notes of it. A great crowd of spectators are present.

Weather cloudy. Many are apprehensive that a rain storm will compel a postponement of the races on Saturday. A light drizzling rain commenced falling about 11 A. M. and still continues.

Patrick Barr, watchman at the Pacific Mail Company's wharf, was found dead to-day, crushed under a coal wagon. It is not known how he was killed.

The trial of Matt Harris, of the Sunrise, is still proceeding. Witness for prosecution was on the stand when the Court took a recess. His testimony refers to facts already published of the cruel beating of Brown and Conditt, who committed suicide soon after leaving New York.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Capt. J. H. Bleathen has been appointed chief wharfinger by the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

It has been ascertained that the soldier Nathan C. Banks, found dead near the Presidio yesterday, was killed by accidentally falling over an embankment.

Sheriff Adams declines to comply with the Auditor's request to pay over to the city Treasury fees collected by him as mileage, which it is claimed he illegally holds. The Sheriff says legal advisors counseled him to pursue this course, and that he is anxious for some legal decision in the matter.

Patrick Barr, watchman at the mail dock, was killed by a coal cage weighing about 1,500 pounds. It is supposed that he was caught on the platform where the cage landed while in a fit of this kind. He leaves a wife in this city.

The rain ceased this afternoon. Weather at present clear.

John Lewis died suddenly to-day, and his friends claim that he was poisoned by his paramour, Nellie Lewis.

Furt, one of the sailors of the Sunrise, was on the witness stand in the U. S. Circuit Court nearly all day, testifying against the mate, Frank Harris. He is very intelligent and gave his testimony with great particularity. It may be stated generally that Harris began his system of cruelty the first day out from New York, and kept it up till he reached this port. His custom was to beat the men with his fists and feet, but on several occasions he used bludgeons on them with terrible effect. Once, while the witness was describing how Harris undertook to force a stick of wood down a sailor's throat, the angry demonstrations of the spectators obliged the Marshal to command order and threaten to clear the room. The cross-examination of Furt will probably consume most of to-morrow's session.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—[illegible] of the Fire Department, David Scannell, arrived to-night from the East, and was escorted through the streets by the Mexican Veterans and his old friends of the Fire Department.

Pool selling on the great race to come off Saturday is brisk to-night. All the horses are entered. Stevens, Jo Daniels, True Blue, Hubbard and Mamie Hall will go. Other entries are expected to be made to-night.

Interior California.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 1[illegible].—To give foreign horses a chance to get here and prepare for the races, the meeting advertised for this month has been postponed until the 3d, 4th and 5th of December. Ten horses are now on the track in training. It is going to be a grand affair.

Further reports from the placer mines, as published in the Union of to-day, show the mines to be very rich, the want of water being the only drawback. The dirt has to be hauled three miles to running water.

STOCKTON, Nov. 1[illegible].—This evening a young man named Thos. Tibbetts, baggage master on the Copperopolis Road, met with a fatal accident at Peter's Station on that road. He was on the top of the cars when he lost his balance and fell under them, striking on his head and dislocating his neck. The wheels passed over his body, causing instant death. Mr. Tibbetts has been in the employ of the Railroad Company some three years and was a resident of this city.

Much interest is manifested here over Saturday's great four mile race. Large numbers leave for the city to-morrow.

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 13.—J. A. T[illegible], one of the persons who attempted to rob Decker & Jewett's bank, was sentenced to-day to two years in the State Prison. William Winkley, the other one, went down this morning for a four years residence at San Quentin.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—James Willis, who was yesterday convicted of vagrancy, received the sentence of 90 days imprisonment to-day, but commitment was withheld on condition that he should leave the city and go to work. Willis went by train, accompanied by Carrie Mortimer, who refused to be parted from him, their destination being understood to be Stockton.

Weather has been quite cold to-day. During the forenoon a slight fog.

Hon. James A. Duffy, State Senator from Sacramento county, arrived [illegible] from an Eastern trip in good health.

ARIZONA.

ARIZONA, Nov. 8, via San Bernardino, Nov. 13.—Good news from the front. [illegible] Apaches sent to the happy hunting grounds and nine captured. A letter from the front was received a few days ago, containing the following: The troops under Major Brown killed 24 and captured nine Indians in Tonto Basin, near the east fork of the Verde, on the morning of the 29th October. [illegible], a brother of Delch[illegible], was found among the dead Indians, who had evidently only lately committed some depredations. Among their effects were found a complete mining kit, some miners' clothing and a new leather belt with silver buckles. The Brown alluded to is Major W. S. Brown, of the Fifth Cavalry, who commands Camp Grant. He had a mixed command of white and Indian soldiers. How he came to catch the savages napping was in this way. While searching for Indian footprints or other signs, he caught three Indians, who, sooner than suffer in the least, led the Major to the rancheria, which he surrounded in the night and wiped it out in the morning. Only three Indians escaped. These Indians must have been Apache Tontos from a tribe found in the [illegible] and [illegible] who committed the recent murders and robberies in Pinto Creek. [illegible] each left this morning for [illegible]

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 1[illegible].—Charles Bradlaugh was the guest of the Massachusetts Club at dinner to-day, and among the [illegible] present were [illegible] Wilson, [illegible] Sumner and Congressmen [illegible] Gooch.

S[illegible]MA, A[illegible], Nov. 8.—The funeral of [illegible] Hardee took place to-day. There was a very imposing procession, the largest ever witnessed in the State. Business was suspended and bells were tolled during the day.

ENGLISH RAILWAYS

SEVENTEEN THOUSAND MILES OF LINE, COSTING NEARLY THREE THOUSAND MILLIONS IN [illegible]

From a highly interesting letter of Mr. Joseph Medill to the Chicago Tribune we extract the following:

LONDON, Oct. 1[illegible], 1873.—The enormous realized wealth of Great Britain forces itself on the observation of the traveler every step of his journey through the island. The country is as beautiful as a park. It is a palace and a garden. It is thickly studded with great cities; London, with its [illegible],000,000 souls, is the sun of a solar system of cities revolving like planets and satellites around it. Solidity and stability characterize everything. Take for example

THE RAILWAYS.

They are built with care and perfection never seen in America. They are constructed regardless of expense. The route is direct [illegible] very little to the face of the country. The lines are straight, turning neither to the right nor left hand to avoid natural obstructions. If low hills are met they are cut through; if valleys, they are filled up; if high hills, they are tunneled; if rivers interpose, they are arched over with stone bridges; or if the span is too long for a stone arch they are spanned with iron. Embankments are deep cuts or either lined up with stone walls or smoothly sodded so the naked earth is rarely seen. All public highways are either carried over the tracks on stone or brick viaducts, approached by easy grades, or are crossed by the railway on an iron or stone bridge. The railway never crosses a public road on the same grade or level.

In passing into or through cities the railway track nearly always runs on a

"HIGH LEVEL."

The road usually consists of a series of brick or stone arches elevated about 20 feet above the surface of the ground, and under the arches the traffic on the street passes without danger or impediment. The trains are thereby enabled to run into depots and through cities as fast as the company chooses to run them. On the express trains I have dashed through cities and towns, or rather over them, at the speed of forty or fifty miles an hour, looking down on the house-tops of the long rows of the tidy colored brick cottages, and taking in the whole place at a glance from a sort of bird's-eye view. The railway lines have all double

OR QUADRUPLE TRACKS.

Except the merely local roads or short feeders, steel rails are laid on the principal lines, and all the lines are getting them as fast as steel can be manufactured. I was told that experience proves steel to be more than ten times as durable as iron. Some railroad men declared that a good steel rail would outlast twenty relays of iron.

The traveler is impressed with the enormous magnitude of the railway traffic in Great Britain by meeting twenty trains an hour flying past him, rarely longer than five or ten minutes intervening between the trains. And every half hour or so he crosses some railway line and sees trains sweeping through the country in almost every direction. The tracks of different railways so far as I observed never crossed each other

ON THE SAME LEVEL.

One always "viaducts" over the other, approaching it on a high embankment or series of arches.

The length of the lines in the United Kingdom at this time is about 17,000 miles, of which there are 14,000 in England. These lines have cost $2,800,000,000 gold, or $160,000 per mile. But bear in mind that nearly all the British railroads have double and quadruple tracks. If measured by single tracks as in America they must considerably exceed 40,000 miles in length. If the cost of the British railways is estimated by the actual amount of labor expended in their construction and in the manufacture of the rolling stock, I do not think I would be far wrong in stating that they

COST DOUBLE AS MUCH

As all the railroads in the United States. This may strike the readers of the Tribune as a wild statement, but let us consider the facts. There are 67,000 miles of railway lines in the United States, nearly all single track, nominally costing $3,000,000,000. But $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 of this same consists of "watered stock" and discount on bonds. Most of the bonds were sold for less than 80 per cent, and some as low as 50. Then all the railway constructed since 1861 has been built with depreciated currency worth on an average about 75 to 80 cents on the dollar. Deduct $1,000,000,000 for water in the stocks and discount on the sale of bonds, and say $300,000,000 for discount on currency since 1861, and there remains only $1,700,000,000 as

THE ACTUAL COST

Of all the existing railroads with their equipments in the United States. There should be deducted from this sum say $50,000,000 paid for right of way. Now bear in mind that a dollar here, in cost of construction, represents at least 40 per cent more than in the States, by which I mean that 60 cents in this country did purchase as much iron, machinery, or labor as 100 cents did in the United States in the construction and equipment of the two systems of railway, reckoning money as at common value in both countries.

The money to build these British roads was every dollar furnished by the CAPITALISTS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

There was no [illegible] voted by towns, cities, counties or State. No municipal corporation subscribed a cent. In that respect they all followed the judicious example of Chicago. The people of Great Britain have been no longer engaged in building their railways than have the people of the United States. Their roads are all paid for and without debt, while with the railroads in the United States, costing in actual hard cash but little more than half as much as the British roads, and in hard labor much less than half, a very large part of the money for their construction was loaned by the British and German capitalists. Fully a quarter of the actual expenditure was advanced by the British in exchange for bonds and stocks of one kind or another. Within twenty years they have constructed over 6,000 miles of railway in the Indies, at a cost of $500,000,000. They have provided the money for the construction of all the railroads of Canada and the other British Colonies, and more than half the money for the construction of the railways in Russia. The money for those in Spain and Italy in chief part came from England.

IN EVERY [illegible] COUNTRY

Where railroads have been built, except in France and Germany, Belgium and Holland, British capital has been freely used, and where money has not been subscribed, iron rails have been exchanged for mortgage bonds or debentures, as they are here called.

THROUGH LANE AND LINN

[FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT]

ALBANY, Nov. 1[illegible], 1873.

The abundant rain of Tuesday night and Wednesday, and the delightful sunshine of the following days, have given the grass a favorable start and set thousands of plows in active motion. At no period in the history of the State have the farmers sung a merrier song and the plowmen whistled a merrier tune than at the present time. Fresh from reaping an abundant harvest, and selling at a more than average good prices, full of hope with reference to the coming season, and united in the maintenance of their common rights, the farmers of the Willamette valley feel as if they [illegible] advantage gained.

EUGENE CITY

Occupies an enviable position. Placed at the head of the Willamette valley and the head of navigation of the Willamette river, surrounded with rich and productive soil, large and elegant farms, it has great wealth to sustain its steady growth, and ample outlets by means of the Oregon and California railroad and the river boats in winter to convey its vast productions to market.

The water power, taken from the Willamette river, and the still greater power of the same kind at Springfield, supplied from the forks of the Willamette and owned by Messrs. Pengra Brothers, are important auxiliaries to the business and wealth of the place in promoting its manufacturing interests.

Among the guarantees for the stability and growth of Eugene City is the building of the

STATE UNIVERSITY.

The location of this valuable institution is well chosen for health and effect. The building is 112 feet by [illegible], three stories high and built of brick, with a [illegible]. The arrangement of the building and the order of the class rooms are all that could be desired. The roof is lately finished, so that the mechanics can proceed with the internal finishing without interruption from the winter weather. The grounds of the University are ample for all kinds of amusements for the students, and for extensive ornamentation. The building, so far, has cost $30,000; it will take $15,000 more to finish it as it should and will be.

The value of an institution of this kind properly conducted cannot be easily overestimated. If the Board of Managers appropriate liberal salaries and appoint competent professors the first year that the University is opened, it will add ten per cent to the population of the city. What the University at Salem and Forest Grove have done and are doing for these two important seats of learning, this University will do for Eugene City by securing stability, perpetuity and growth to its population and material wealth, its intellectual standing, social refinements and moral influence. The University does credit to the intelligence, enterprise and liberality of the citizens of Eugene and the surrounding district.

ALBANY.

This is one of the most prosperous seasons that this town has ever enjoyed. It is the principal shipping point for Linn county, and has the advantage of both railroad and river steamers in winter for forwarding wheat. There will be 550,000 bushels of wheat shipped from this point this fall and winter, and 1,[illegible]00,000 bushels from the county, including the shipping places at Harrisburg, Halsey, Shedd's, Tangent, Miller's Station and Peoria.

There will be $1,000,000 paid to the farmers of Linn county this season for wheat, oats, barley and flax seed. The farmers of the Willamette valley, and of Linn county in particular, can hold a day of thanksgiving on the 27th of this month with a good grace and a clear conscience.

ALBANY PRAIRIE.

The Willamette valley has been always considered "the garden valley" of the State; it may truly be called the garden valley of the Pacific coast. The miners formerly called it "God's land." The Albany prairie may be fairly considered to be the garden prairie of the Willamette valley. It extends for forty miles north and south and has an average breadth of fifteen miles east and west. The richness of the soil may be inferred from the facts that the average production of wheat is thirty bushels to the acre, while the best lands well cultivated raise from forty to sixty bushels to the acre, oats and barley from forty to seventy-five bushels. The farms in this favorite prairie sell from $30 to $50 an acre, with a decided tendency upwards. There are very few farms for sale; the farmers are confident of a sure and steady advance in the value of their farms, and look upon their farms as the best investment they can make. The comfortable and elegant dwelling houses, the splendid tables set, and the extensive barns and other outhouses are striking evidences of the prosperity, wealth and refined taste of the farmers and their families living on this prairie. Their hospitality is only limited by the number of visitors who call on them.

BROWNSVILLE

Has all the appearance of a thriving town, and is partaking largely of the general prosperity of the Willamette valley and of Linn county, of which it is advancing to become one of its most important points. It is the center of a fine agricultural district north and south; its numerous buttes and foot hills are the natural home for sheep, and its valuable water power by means of the Calapooia river is developing important manufacturing industries. The farmers of the surrounding country are numerous and successful; their farms are large, productive and fairly cultivated. The production of wheat ranges from fifteen to thirty bushels to the acre, according to soil and cultivation. The numerous buttes, the beautiful foot hills and the charming slopes of the magnificent Cascade range of mountains are covered with valuable flocks of sheep. The scenery of this district of country, embracing valleys and mountains, rivers and forests, is beautiful and sublime. The numerous buttes in the front are like the skirmishers, and the large spurs behind them resemble the approach of a great army, while the magnificent Cascade mountains remind one of the advance of a grand army itself, and the towering snow peaks the commanding officers.

THE BROWNSVILLE WOOLEN MANUFACTURING ASSOCIATION

Is one of the principal manufacturing establishments of the town. Up till May last it was idle for some years. During that month Messrs. Thomas Kay, F. T. Croft and D. Dal[illegible] leased the place on reasonable terms. They are practical workmen, understand the business, and commenced under the firm of Kay, Croft & Company. Their capital was ample experience in the business, reliable characters and able workers. The citizens willingly loaned them $[illegible],000 to purchase wool. In two months from the 1st of May they had the machinery in order, repaired and ready for work, and on the [illegible] of July they had the first piece of cloth ready for sale. From July to November they have manufactured and sold $[illegible],000 worth of goods, and this month they expect to finish $7,000 worth more. The machinery consists of [illegible] looms [illegible] The goods manufactured consist of blankets, flannels [illegible] The demand for the goods [illegible] This factory [illegible] reputation for manufacturing standard goods. About fifteen hands are employed [illegible] cents to $2 a day [illegible] from $2 to $2.50. At a late meeting of the Company, after a careful examination of the books, they found that the sale of goods will clear them, within a small sum, of all indebtedness, and leave them four months [illegible] and the stock in the looms clear. There are 4,000 pounds of wool used in the month. The members of the Company and their friends are in great spirits at the prosperity of the past and full of hope for the future success of the establishment.

The example of this young company, with nothing to commence with but experience, willing hands, clear heads and good habits, building up a successful woolen factory, is worthy of all praise and deserves the highest commendation of all good citizens. It is one of the promising signs of the times to know that home manufactures are making fair progress in almost every part of the State.

The fine water power leased by this Company, by means of the Calapooia river, is of great economical value when compared with the expense of steam power. Indeed it is the vast amount of available water power in Oregon that gives manufactories such great advantages compared with those who have to use steam. It is one of the chief agents that will in due time develop manufacturing interests in the State.

BROWNSVILLE SASH AND DOOR FACTORY.

This establishment is owned by Mr. J. M. Moyer, and is, for the extent of it, one of the most complete and successful of the kind in the country. The secret of that lies in the facts that Mr. Moyer is a thorough master of his business, pays marked attention to it, has all the advantages of ample water power from the Calapooia river by means of the same ditch and flume that supplies the Woolen factory. He uses in his factory 200,000 feet of lumber in the year, has the best of improved machinery, and his work is not surpassed. He is about adding to his present work the best of cedar wood for fine house finishing. Recently he has been able to economize the water power to a great extent by means of

MR. ALBERT MOORE'S NEW WATER WHEEL.

This wheel is a late invention by Mr. Moore, who lives a few miles from Brownsville, and patented last year. He is a mechanic of nature's own making, a deep thinker and an original designer in his chosen line of mechanics, of which his new wheel is a practical proof. Mr. Moyer is satisfied that Mr. Moore's new water wheel would be a successful competitor for public patronage when once known by those interested in such inventions as the most economical in cost and power, and simplicity and efficiency in working.

THE BROWNSVILLE FLOURING MILL

[illegible] one of the valuable institutions of the town. It is extensively used by the farmers of the district, and ships considerable from time to time. It has three burrs, and cost $[illegible],000, and has just been repaired at a cost of $2,000. It has a competent supply of water power all the year from the Calapooia river. The [illegible] only [illegible] power for the Woolen factory, the Flour mill and the Sash and Door factory, at Brownsville, but it drives within a distance of [illegible] miles from that town five sawmills and one gristmill, as well as the large Imperial mill at Albany, where the river empties into the Willamette.

The southern part of the town—separated from the northern side by the Calapooia river—has three fine stores, of which Sanders & Bremner's is the leading one. W. C. Baird & Son are extensive and successful manufacturers of wagons, plows and other farming implements, and can compete, they say, with Eastern manufacturers in quality and price.

Brownsville, north and south, has a population of 550 persons. The town north of the Calapooia has two good stores, numerous mechanic shops, many neat cottages, a fine church and a large elegant public school, under the charge of Mr. J. L. Gilbert, an experienced and accomplished teacher. The southern part of the town partakes much of the same characteristics as the northern end. It has the advantage of three churches and a very fine and prosperous public school under the care of Mr. W. R. Bishop, a teacher of high standing and ample experience. The Good Templars are numerous in Brownsville; their influence is felt, for there is not a saloon in the old or new town. The moral tone of society is good, and the desire of parents in the district to have their children well educated is gratifying.

THE GRANGERS.

The Central Council of Grangers for Linn, Polk, Benton and part of Marion counties met here yesterday. The council is composed of the Masters and two delegates from each of the Subordinate Granges. There were sixty members in attendance; they had the appearance of a superior class of men. Their prudence, moderation, co-operation and good sense have enabled them to accomplish much already; what they have achieved is only the first fruits of what they will ultimately accomplish. There is no doubt but their united action in concert with the Granges of California with the facilities for freight by means of the Oregon & California Railroad have secured the farmers of the Willamette Valley a dollar a bushel this season in place of 75 or 80 cents.

THE STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

The leading men of Benton county think that the action of the State Board of Equalization has been arbitrary and unjust in the revision of the County Board's scale of taxation, particularly on lands and stock. [illegible] central point at present for the bitter feeling manifested. No language is too strong in expressing their disapprobation and condemnation of the conduct of the Board. The determination is to take the whole matter into the courts and have it tested. When such men as G. B. Smith, Alfred Nothum, John Foster, J. C. Avery, Arch. Johnson, P. M. Reed, A. Dunn and H. G. Lewis are of this mind, it means business.

I am told on good authority that the best legal authority in Oregon and California will be employed regardless of expenses, so as to have the matter fully tested in the highest courts. If the present determination of the parties mentioned as well as others is carried out, the State Board of Equalization will require to be able to make out a good case for their course of action. I do not pretend to give any opinion on the merits of the question, but simply to mention the facts as a matter of public interest.

NORTHWEST.

THE MAYOR OF MEMPHIS AND HIS ALLEGED FRAUDS.

Our morning dispatches mention the expulsion from the City Council of Memphis, of Acting Mayor Paul Cicalla. From the New York Times of Nov. 1st we take the annexed brief account of the charges upon which that action was based:

The Appeal contains particulars of an alleged fraud practiced on the Commissary Department of the Howard Association by Mayor Paul Cicalla. It is charged that he made requisitions for supplies in the name of a widow lady known to be destitute, that he secured supplies for food and clothing for herself and family of eight persons and four orphans of her sister, a victim of the yellow fever, for thirty days, and appropriated the same to his own use.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 2.—There is great excitement of indignation against the Acting Mayor Cicalla. He admitted the fact charged to-day, but it is supposed he will shield himself in law behind the power of the Mayor to control the distribution of supplies for general relief. His only offense, in the eyes of the law, is forging the signature of a lady to a requisition. On learning yesterday that the matter would be made public, Cicalla took an armful of the alleged articles to the lady's house and [illegible] them, but she refused to receive them. It is [illegible] that Cicalla [illegible] two pairs of fine blankets and some other articles in the same manner.

There seems to be [illegible], says a Washington dispatch of Nov. [illegible], a well settled belief among the members of Congress who have arrived here, that the next Congress will repeal the bankrupt act, or modify it to such an extent that a small creditor cannot force business firms into bankruptcy.

The cost of widening and improving the streets in the burnt district of Boston is $5[illegible]0,000.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LEGISLATURE

Fourth Biennial Session.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

OLYMPIA, Nov. 12, 1873.

House opened at usual hour. Speaker in the Chair.

Substitute for an act making appropriations for expenses incurred in arresting and returning to the Territory the murderer of the Dwyer family, provides for paying the jail keeper at Victoria $302 for the keeping of the same for 1[illegible] days, and other expenses incurred; passed.

Act in relation to publication of legal notices provides that where two or more papers are published, to let the public printing to the lowest bidder; passed.

Act for the relief of Dr. S. Hemmenway; passed.

Substitute for an act to pay for printing; passed.

H. B. 128, which was reconsidered last Saturday and provides for an appropriation to pay expenses of Centennial Commissioner, was amended to read "$500 for year 1874"; passed.

Act for relief of James Seavey and others indefinitely postponed.

Committee of Ways and Means reported on Territorial Auditor and Treasurer's reports, found the books and reports in good order, and kept in an improved style, and returned thanks to the late officers for information given the Committee, and recommend the cancelling of certain warrants, the duplicates of which are supposed to be paid; approved.

Act relative to weights and measures; passed.

The Speaker here called Mr. Eldridge to the Chair.

C. B. 23, relating to building jail in Walla Walla. The bill provides for building the jail, designating lot No. 9 in the city of Walla Walla. A majority of the Committee reported the bill back with an amendment that No. 9 be stricken out and the people allowed to make their own choice. Mr. Caton presented a minority report and recommends that the bill as introduced be passed by the House.

Mr. Hodges being of opinion that the people of Walla Walla wished to select their own site for a jail, moved that the majority report be adopted.

Mr. Caton stated that he had introduced a bill on this subject early in this session which had been referred to a committee, and the committee had never reported. The Hon. gentleman considered that lot 9 in Walla Walla city should be the site of the jail as it was already the place where the jail is located at present. The city of Walla Walla had made a deed to Walla Walla county of this lot for the purpose of building a Court House and Jail, and a vote had been taken on the subject of levying a tax for the purpose of constructing such buildings.

Mr. Lacy stated there were petitions signed by a majority of the people asking that the Legislature do not fix the location of said buildings.

Mr. Hodges had not seen the bill first introduced by Mr. Caton since it was referred to the Committee.

Mr. Bryant said he had the bill in his hands, but the delegation to whom it was referred had never met.

Majority report adopted.

Mr. Caton moved to indefinitely postpone the bill; lost.

Mr. Caton moved to lay on table; lost.

Moved by Mr. Lacy that the rules be suspended and the bill read third time; lost.

Mr. Henry introduced act fixing rate to be paid for public printing and providing for the audit of the accounts of the Public Printer, and names A. A. Phillips, N. S. Porter and the Territorial Auditor as an auditing board; passed.

C. B. 19, to encourage the construction of railroads; passed.

H. J. R., by Mr. Clark, relative to contractor and resident physician of Insane Asylum, returning the thanks of the people to these two officers, and recommending the appointment of Dr. Hemmenway as resident physician for the next two years; passed.

The House then adjourned to 2 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

H. B. 179, introduced by Mr. Cook, in relation to changing the boundaries of Yakima and Klikatat counties; passed.

H. B. 180, by Mr. Henry, for the relief of Revs. P. E. Hyland and J. B. Huntington; passed.

H. B. 181, act for relief of the Sheriff of Yakima county; referred.

H. B. 182, act relating to marriages; read first time.

H. B. 183, act appropriating $1,000 for painting and repairing Territorial University; referred.

H. B. 184, act for relief of Dr. P. James for medicines furnished Territorial convicts; referred.

H. B. 185, act to dissolve bonds of matrimony between G. B. and Lotta C. Hansell; referred.

H. B. 186, act providing for care of Territorial convicts; referred.

H. M. 14, relative to Chehalis river; referred.

H. M. 15, praying for establishment of mail route between Seattle and Wallula; passed.

H. B. 162, act to establish uniform system of text books; lost.

H. B. 187, act in relation to County Treasurer; introduced.

H. B. 188, act in relation to Constables; introduced.

Joint resolution called up providing that no new business be introduced after Wednesday (to-day).

H. B. 189, act for relief of Frank Clark, for paper, stationery and clerk hire; referred.

H. B. 190, act for relief of —— Murphy.

H. B. 191, act annexing Shoshone, Nez Perces and Idaho counties to Washington Territory; referred.

H. B. 192, act relating to certain fees in Walla Walla.

C. B. 31, act providing for completing records of present session; passed.

C. B. 32, act to authorize A. Quigley to keep a gate on public road; passed.

House then adjourned.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 14, 1873.

THE ERA OF PEACE.

Despite the philanthropic labors of the Peace Society of Great Britain, the nations of the world continue to war upon each other. And if the truth were told it might appear that national pride, at the bottom of which lies individual sensitiveness, is just as strong as ever. It must be admitted, also, that the millenium is visible only to the eye of faith, that the era of peace is a long way off. The British army and navy costs £20,000,000 a year, we are told. The annual interest on the national debt of England is £24,000,000. Expeditions into Abyssinia cost about $40,000,000 apiece, Khivan campaigns foot up a half-billion of roubles, and the cost of the Ashantee war is as yet uncomputed. France awaits a favorable opportunity to rescue Alsace and Lorraine; and, it may be, to stop the sale of convents in Italy. Don Carlos digs at the foundations of the Spanish republic and Antonelli is patting him on the back, while as if Spain were not sufficiently distracted with insurgent cantons and troublesome Carlists, the Antilles are kicking in the harness. In Germany, Bismarck is contemplating the propriety of taking Mermillod's scalp—a proceeding which Pio IX. surveys with rising choler. Ireland is restive and she looks with growing uneasiness on the quack prescriptions of Gladstone and his empiric ministry.

Altogether, it must be acknowledged the outlook is rather discouraging for Peace Societies. But the Brussels Congress, we are told, is to restore to us the age of pruning-hooks and plowshares. Codification is the sovereign remedy for war according to the closet philosophers in politics. It is the proud boast of America that she furnished the David Dudley Field in whose brain was first developed the germ of universal peace. Mr. Field is not unknown to fame. In the United States, his name is associated chiefly with the New York Code and the Erie Railway. During the last seven years he has relaxed his arduous labors on New York judges with studies on this Code of International Law which is recommended to the civilized world by the Brussels Congress, Oct. 12th. The plan of this code is stupendous. It is divided into two books. The first treats of peace—the second of war. Of the first there are two parts: public international law relating to peace, which comprises the rights of independent nations inter se during time of peace, and private international law during peace. Mr. Field gives us universal copyright, Greenwich longitude and the French metrical system of weights and measures. "As to money," says Mr. Field, "I would have a uniform coinage of certain pieces of gold which should pass current in every country." The "provisions intended for the preservation of the peace are" briefly stated, as follows: (1.) Simultaneous reduction of the enormous armaments which now weigh upon Europe; (2) a provision that a specific notice of causes of complaint and a specific claim for redress shall precede actual declarations of war; (3) if no redress, a high commission of five is to be appointed to try to conciliate the parties, and if this fails—(4) a high tribunal of arbitration is to be appointed, whose award is to be final.

The second book in Mr. Field's code treats of belligerents, neutrals, blockades, and other subjects equally important to warlike peoples. It is proposed that "the bombardment of defenseless places is absolutely prohibited." In another section we note a provision asserting the absolute right of a nation to remain neutral while others are at war. If we mistake not, Vattel and a score of other writers asserted this latter doctrine several years ago.

The penalties by which this legislation of the Brussels Congress are to be enforced, do not clearly appear. The whole code appears to be based on the Geneva Arbitration. The world is presumed to be in a favorably receptive state. It is supposed that the nations are urging on that happy period when war shall be known no more; when the lion and lamb can lie down together with assurances that the latter shall not be inside the former; when Damascus blades shall be turned into scissors and sewing-machines, and a little child shall operate them. The prospect held out by the Brussels Code is attractive. The only difficulty we can see at present lies in getting the Code to be adopted.

THE SHIP-YARD OF THE FUTURE.

The San Francisco Chronicle of November 10th discusses the proposition of Booth & Co. to the San Francisco Board of Supervisors for a grant of Central Basin to aid that firm in establishing a mammoth ship-yard. It will be remembered that the Board voted the grant a day or two since. Booth & Co. allege that ships can be built at San Francisco more cheaply than on Puget Sound. The Chronicle thinks this assertion will bear a little investigation, and it refers to Simpson & Co. and Meigs, who own extensive mills on the coast and on the Sound. Simpson & Co. have, during the last eleven years, built twelve vessels. Several of these are now in the trade between San Francisco and this port. They are staunch, sound crafts, and will compare favorably with any of Eastern build, in material, construction and cost. The Chronicle particularly mentions the Melancthon, a bark of 298 tons, in Simpson & Co.'s line. She was built at Coos Bay and cost $25,000, or $84 per ton. Mr. Meigs has a ship-yard at Port Madison. The steamer Eastport was built at San Francisco, but the owner is having a second steamer built at Port Madison, because "he believes vessels can be built more cheaply by 20 per cent. up there than in San Francisco." It has been urged by one of the members of the firm of Booth & Co. that "parties had to transport their material and men to the Sound to build their ships, and load their vessels with ballast back to this port, where they come to load with grain." This will be news to the shippers on the Sound, particularly to lumbermen. The Chronicle says on this point:

> We have before us extracts from a pamphlet on ship building—a report of the Committee appointed by the Board of Marine Underwriters of San Francisco, Sept. 1867. The Committee recommends in the strongest terms the establishment of ship-yards on the coast and at Puget Sound.
> The report concludes "that sailing vessels of any size and description can be built at Puget Sound, at Coos Bay, on the Columbia river and at several other minor ports north of San Francisco, of as good quality as the vessels built of Maine materials, and for less money in gold, than at New York or Boston, provided the business be undertaken on a large scale by experienced and prudent mechanics, backed up by a large capital." The authors of this pamphlet were C. T. Hopkins, President of the California Insurance Company and Secretary of the Board of Underwriters and of the Chamber of Commerce, and J. Ringot, a well known ship builder and Surveyor of the Board of Marine Underwriters of San Francisco. There are several points worthy of notice in the conclusion of these gentlemen's report. Their reasons for recommending Puget Sound, etc., for ship building (leaving out San Francisco entirely) are as applicable and as good to-day as they were six years ago, and it will be well to benefit by the experience of such men as they, rather than accept the visionary ideas of Messrs. Booth and Risdon on a subject of which they cannot know anything excepting from hearsay, especially in a case where their wish is so likely to be the father of their thought. The
> MOST IMPORTANT POINT IN THE SELECTION OF A SHIP-YARD
> is the closest possible vicinity to the timber; good solid ground; sufficient water—sixteen feet being all that is required for the launch of almost any vessel; good anchorage and shelter from the winds. We can enumerate several places on the coast and Sound, such as Coos Bay (its only drawback being that of having but twelve feet of water on the bar), and—on the Sound—Port Discovery, Port Townsend, Port Ludlow, Gamble, Sebec, Port Madison, Seattle, Blakely and Freeport. All these places are admirably adapted for ship building, and none more so than Seattle, with a hard and gradually rising ground from the water, good anchorage (free from squalls), natural springs on the place and the timber on hand. Two hundred thousand dollars expended at such a place would not alone furnish all the necessary "facilities," but build and complete a couple of thousand-ton ships.
> The timber at Puget Sound costs about $10 to $12 per thousand, and can be had of any required size. The price will be in San Francisco from $25 to $30, delivered in the yard, and not of such sizes as at the mill. For instance, keels, keelsons, water-ways, planks of extraordinary length and spars. Take for example the spars for the ship Three Brothers; the freight on such immense trees cannot fall short of $1,500. The advantage of having timber of more than ordinary lengths is obvious, as the saving of labor and the increased strength of the ship are of great importance. The ground rent or interest on purchase money for land at the Sound would probably not exceed $500 per annum, while the execution of the plan of Booth & Co. would cost them at least $15,000 to $20,000. The rates of wages for shipwrights average $3 50 per diem at the Sound, while in San Francisco wages are at the present time $4 50.

THE OTHER SIDE.

The Bulletin of yesterday gave editorial notice to an item from the Sacramento Union, in which it is stated that the Holly Water Works of Sacramento have "already cost the city $180,000, and $35,000 more is asked to make them of general utility." The Sacramento Bee of November 4th notices the assertion quoted above, as follows:

> The Union of yesterday said the Holly Water Works cost the city $180,000! These are the simple facts: The people decided to increase their water supply and improve their means for extinguishing fires. They asked for proposals to furnish machinery, describing the power, and authorizing the Trustees to select two plans and submit them for decision to a vote of the people. Two questions were voted on at the special election: 1. Shall the debt be created? 2. Which plan shall be adopted—that of Holly or that of Adams? The first question was decided in the affirmative with great unanimity, and the second was decided in favor of the Holly, by a close vote. The total cost of the Holy machinery was $58,000, neither more nor less, and the cost of the Adams' machinery was to have been $61,000, or $3,000 more than the Holly. The Union advocated the Adams plan, and the Bee would have done likewise if it had been satisfied that it was as good as the Holly—for in a work like this $3,000 is not an object to higgle about when in favor of home manufacture. It is not true, then as the Union asserts, that the Holly machinery cost $180,000, or any sum exceeding $58,000! All sums above this was necessary for pipes, hydrants, building, etc., no matter which plan had been adopted. And the outlay, next to our levees, is the best the city ever made—for it gives all the people an abundance of water, clearer than before, and has twice over within six months paid for itself in property saved from conflagrations! And the people of Sacramento now get their water, estimating the quantity furnished, for a little over one-half what they had been paying for it under the old system!

We desire to be understood as having no special interest just at this time in the dispute on the merits of the Holly system, or any other system. We think it but fair, however, that both sides of the question of merit should be presented. We respect the opinion of the Union, but we find it difficult to reconcile the two statements of fact on any other hypothesis than that suggested by the Bee.

A CUD FOR THE "BULLETIN."

The OREGONIAN is not in the habit of boasting. Journalistic braggadocio is usually an infallible symptom of deficits—no offense to the sensitive Bulletin intended. The annexed letter is a sample of scores which we receive daily. We publish it because it affords a very excellent reflection of the sentiment which prevails just now among old-line Republicans:

LEWIS AND CLARKE'S RIVER, CLATSOP COUNTY, November 11th.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

My subscription has expired, and I hasten to renew it before my paper is stopped. I am a little late, perhaps, but you know every one don't live next door to a postoffice. As I am a Republican, and never voted the Democratic ticket in my life, perhaps I ought to take the Bulletin. It is said the OREGONIAN is no longer a Republican journal, because it refused to support that abortion, known as the Hipple Amendment to the Republican Platform. The course of the OREGONIAN in that matter meets my hearty approval, and the vote of the State shows conclusively what the people think of early indiscretions. A neighbor of mine (a patron of the Bulletin) will take the OREGONIAN when his subscription expires.

MARY AND I.

"Twas evening in May, and the soft zephyr sighed
Through branches low bending above
My Mary and I, as we wandered along,
And whisper'd of beauty and love.
"We'll make us a nest like the birdlings," I said,
"And never shall part any more."
"Oh yes," she replied, "and can furnish it nice,
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"Fair creature, there's many a wealthier man
Would gladly have you for a bride,
But no one can love you more fondly than I—
My treasure, my beauty, and pride!
Oh, had I a mansion, with carpets of gold
And silver, I'd cover the floor!"
But, smiling, she said, "You can purchase the best
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

"I'll spread you a couch upon which to recline
When evening shall call us to rest,
Of the fleeciest down"—"but," she said with a sigh,
"I like a hair-mattrass the best."
"Then so it shall be, love; and tables inlaid,
And seats from some far distant shore."
"Oh no," she exclaimed, "They have elegant sets
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"But, Mary, alas, I must sadly confess
My means are but slender as yet;
To furnish a house in the style you demand
Would hopelessly plunge me in debt—
To ask you to share my poor lodgings and board
Is something that I should deplore."
She said with a smile, "You can buy very cheap
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"To-morrow, then, love, let us journey along
To the corner of Alder and Front street—
'Tis numbers 98 and 100, (river side,)
Where lovers so happily meet.
How many fond souls might be severed for years
From those they so fondly adore,
Were it not for the beautiful furniture they have,
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

They have marble top bureaus and elegant sets
Of Bedroom furniture new,
With center tables and what-nots and mirrors great,
And an endless variety of chairs, not a few.
They do a cash business, and with money in hand
To purchase every style of furniture lower,
Are able to supply all the public demand
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

We went, Mary and I, and can I ever forget
The pleasure that beamed in her face,
As she gazed at the marvels of beauty displayed
In HURGREN & SHINDLER'S place!
We furnished our home in an elegant style,
Been married a twelve month or more,
And Mary is singing this song to her babe,

CITY.

[illegible] INTO THE HATCHWAY.—A stevedore named [illegible] Cross fell down the hatchway of the [illegible] Rose yesterday forenoon, and [illegible] severe injuries. He fell backwards a distance of about twenty five feet. In the [illegible] struck against a piece of timber [illegible] it was broken in one place and [illegible] twice. His wrist and one side [illegible] likewise received bruises. None [illegible] injuries are regarded as necessarily dangerous [illegible] the man receives proper and timely [illegible] Dr C C Strong was called to examine [illegible] injuries. Learning that Cross would [illegible] probably be removed to the Poor House [illegible] Strong did not set the broken limb, as the [illegible] would separate the dislocated bones [illegible] the afternoon we learn that Cross w[illegible] to the Poor Farm on an order from the County Commissioners.

PATENT WATER GAUGE.—Col H R Leonard of [illegible] is the inventor of a patent water gauge. Yesterday we called and examined this simple but very useful apparatus. It is very simply constructed and consists of a small [illegible] cylinder which holds one-sixth of a gallon. The water passes through the cylinder in [illegible] uninterrupted stream and after filling it [illegible] sort of pendulum is caused to move. Each oscillation made by this pendulum [illegible] one sixth of a gallon. An indicator [illegible] is attached to the gas meter, is used [illegible] connection with this gauge. The movement [illegible] of the pendulum causes the indicator to show how many gallons of water have passed [illegible] of the cylinder. The great advantage claimed by Mr Leonard for his patent is its simplicity and cheapness. He has made application for a patent and will no doubt soon receive one.

SCHOONER IVANHOE.—This handsome little craft arrived here yesterday noon from down the river. She came from Coos Bay with a load of coal for the Gas Company. The Ivanhoe is [illegible] three years old, and was built at Coos Bay. She has been plying regularly between the Bay and San Francisco. One hundred and sixty tons of coal were brought to this port which will be discharged in a few days. The dimensions of the Ivanhoe are length [illegible] feet, beam 28 6 feet, hold 8 10 feet. After being discharged the Ivanhoe will have quick dispatch for Coos Bay if sufficient freight is offered.

RUN ON A SNAG.—The steamer Mary Bell, while towing a scow up the river yesterday morning [illegible] on a sunken snag at a point along Ross Island about two miles above the city. [illegible] perceiving the damage the steamer was immediately cut loose from the tow and made for the shore with all possible speed. She ran up on the gravelly bank and succeeded in beaching herself very nicely. The extent of the damages are not known.

PHILALETHIC SOCIETY.—Next Thursday evening, at half past 7 o clock a meeting will be held by the members of the Philalethic Society for the purpose of reorganization upon a plan in accordance with the suggestion made a short time ago. Every person taking an interest in this matter, whether a member of the Philalethics or not, is invited to be present and join in the movement.

AVERAGE ATTENDANCE.—The following report of the attendance at the Taylor street M E Sunday School for the month of October shows. The aggregate attendance 1 193 average, including concert, 298, average, not including concert 244, average of officers and teachers 38 average of infant class, 62, number of officers enrolled 8, number of teachers enrolled [illegible]

NEW UNIFORMS.—Mr R R Anderson, formerly a member of the Twenty-third Infantry Band is now engaged in making a new uniform for all the members of the Twenty first Infantry Band which is stationed at Vancouver. The uniforms are quite neat and showy, and will soon be finished.

ON COLUMBIA SLOUGH.—Mr Levi Leland, the eloquent temperance lecturer, delivered a lecture last evening on Columbia Slough. He will also address the people of that vicinity this evening. Mr Leland will lecture in this city to-morrow evening at the Good Templars Hall.

SIX BILLS OF INDICTMENT.—The United States Grand Jury presented six more bills of indictment yesterday. The trial of these cases will occupy the time of the Court for some days to come. It probable that the Grand Jury will be discharged to morrow.

STEAMER TO SAIL.—The steamer Oriflamme will not sail hence for San Francisco until to morrow morning at 6 o clock. Passengers who have secured berths will have to sleep on the steamer or else rise early if they do not wish to be left behind.

TRIED FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

THE TRIAL OF DR C G GLASS FOR THE CRIME OF MANSLAUGHTER IN THE CIRCUIT COURT

According to previous announcement the trial of Dr C G Glass and Charles Mealey indicted for the crime of manslaughter was called in the Circuit Court yesterday morning.

Both defendants appeared in person and by their attorneys Messrs R Williams and O P Mason. Notice was given at the time the case was called for trial that the defendants would be tried separately to which no objections were made by the counsel for the State.

The case of the State vs Dr Glass was then called and the Clerk instructed to proceed to call the names of the jurors. This proved a long and tedious task. It was difficult to find a juror who had not read the published accounts of the case and the evidence elicited at the preliminary examination and who had not either formed or expressed an opinion concerning the guilt or innocence of the parties implicated. Court was called at 9 o clock, but it was past 11 before the jury was impanneled. Thirty jurors were called but eighteen of that number were excused for the above reasons.

The following are the names of the jurors: T J Cone D F Budd W B Daniels E Ford N Newman R R Riley G W Murray Geo F Watkins, Geo W Hilman, L Levy J P Walker F Brown.

The State was represented by District Attorney Geo H Durham Deputy District Attorney H Y Thompson and W H Effinger.

The first witness called in behalf of the State was who being sworn testified I reside about nine miles southeast of Albany know Mary E Hardman she was my sister know Chas Mealey have known him for eight or nine years also know Dr Glass my sister left home some time in September I only know where she went by her parents, only know at last that she had gone to Portland from Chas Mealey. I saw her about the 17th of Sept I came down to Portland about the last of October, with my brother for the first time after my sister's death, called at Dr Glass office and had some conversation with him told him that I had heard of my sister's death, and that her body was in his possession he said yes, I told him that things had been kept very dark from me he did not make any direct answer I asked to see the body Glass said Not now but call at 9 o clock that evening told him that I desired to take the body to Albany told him that I understood that Mealey had brought my sister to his office for treatment that Mealey had agreed to pay him (Glass) the sum of $250, and $15 per week for board. Glass said that when my sister came to his office she was carrying a dead child that Miss Hardman told Glass she had been taking medicine while at Eugene City said that it was the oil of tansy. Glass called that evening at 8 o clock and told me the body could now be seen that it was ready for removal to Albany. Glass said the next morning when I called at the undertaker's that my sister had died from bilious intermittent fever that he would send a written statement concerning the cause of my sister's death, signed by himself and another physician have not received such a certificate we took the body to Albany on Monday, and from thence to father's house. Glass said my sister had died Saturday at 2 o'clock A M he also said that Mealey came down on Friday to see Mary. Mealey told me some time before that my sister had been unfortunate she had been seduced, and that his son George was the guilty party he told me that he had brought Mary down to Portland and placed her in Dr Glass' office that he had agreed to give Glass $250 to wait on her during her confinement, Mealey said Mary insisted very strongly on being brought to Portland or some other place where she could receive proper treatment she told Mealey that she had rather die than let her folks know of her shame I received a letter from Mealey on the Thursday preceding Mary's death requesting me to call at Albany Mealey read me a letter he had just received from Glass the letter stated that Mary was out of danger but was left very weak I then gave Mealey $80 to send to my sister, before I came to Portland he gave me back $40, and said he would hand me the remainder soon when I came to Albany on Saturday Mealey told me that Mary was dead, said he had been to Portland on Friday and seen Mary that she was in a dying condition and had died before he left there I and my brother took charge of Mary's body at the undertaker's and accompanied it to Albany, when we caused it to be removed to father's house, where the post mortem examination was held I never saw the body until the coffin was opened at home.

Here the Court took a recess until 1 o'clock.

AFTERNOON

The Court convened at half past one o clock, and the witness Benjamin Hardman was called to the stand, and cross examined by Mr Williams of counsel for defendant Mr Hardman further testified

My sister left home sometime in September —I am not sure what time it was but think it was in the forepart of the month I only know when she intended to go from what my parents told me They said she told them she was going to her sister's. Since she died I heard that she went to Mohawk valley in Lane county She went there on a visit I heard my parents speak of her going there. I first heard of my sister's condition two weeks after Mealey brought her to Portland Vincent Circles told me at father's about her coming to Portland on the same day that Mealey brought her down here Circles was at the depot at Albany when they started to come down here He is my cousin by marriage Father and mother were present at the time Circles said my sister had gone to Portland I don t recollect what day of the month it was don t know whether father and mother or either of them went to Albany the next day For two weeks after this I was boarding at home, and we occasionally spoke of Mary as being at the Sisters' school in Portland I did not go to Mr Mealey at that time, and do not know that my father went the next thing I heard was when Mealey sent for me to come to Albany when I went I saw Mr Mealey, and he might have held up a letter, but I did not see a word that was in it, he showed me a note which he read it was written on Friday before my sister's death I am not positive that I had a conversation with Mealey on the 14th of October, the day after the election I can t say positively where I was on that day might have been in Albany and if so might have had a conversation with Mealey, about two weeks after my sister came to Portland I had a conversation with Mealey in which he told me that my sister was at Dr Glass for treatment I don t remember that he told me I ought to go and see her though I think he told me I ought to write to her and may be he said I ought to go and see her I did write to her and addressed the letter "Mary E Hardman Dr Glass office corner Second and Washington streets Portland, the last time I saw the letter was in this city but I do not know who took it do not know where it is now I got it of Dr Glass after my sister's death Glass told me that after she received the letter my sister grew much worse he gave me the letter on the Sunday evening that I came down after my sister's death At that time he also told me that my sister had a bottle of medicine when she came down and gave me a bottle which he said was the one she brought with her and said it contained oil of tansy [The small bottle was shown to the witness and identified by him as the one of which he had spoken and then the bottle was handed to the jury who examined its contents The witness then continued] I remained in Portland at that time until the next Monday morning When I went away I took that bottle of medicine the corpse of my sister and her trunk with me Father and mother examined the trunk after my sister's burial and I was present part of the time A bottle was found labelled Ergot I did not ever hear anything of it On the Sunday evening after my sister's death Glass told me when I first got to his office that I could not see my sister's corpse then that it was in the care of the undertaker After that he came to the h[illegible] o clock and told me I could then see the body [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] would [illegible] [illegible] conversation I had with Mealey at Albany [illegible] Dr Glass on account of her peculiar condition Dr Glass told me he would keep my sister for five weeks [illegible] keep her [illegible] get well [illegible] keep the child [illegible] Mealey [illegible] to Albany [illegible] [illegible] very sick [illegible] a great deal He said he had called in another physician a short time before he died When I [illegible] my sister away [illegible] Glass that I we entirely [illegible] Baker in Albany [illegible] [illegible] my sister for [illegible] [illegible]

furniture establishment at Albany Am not certain that my brother got the letter on the day it was post mark[ed] October [illegible] will know I have had two conversations with Mealey about this matter My father received a letter from Dr Glass about my sister A letter was shown the witness which [illegible] it as the one his father had received from defendant Defendant's counsel offered to introduce the letter in evidence but the Court pronounced it an omission [illegible] testimony [illegible] not at that time The witness then said in answer to interrogations propounded by Mr Thompson on direct examination [illegible]

I wrote the letter to my sister after the first interview with Mealey some two weeks after I and my sister came to Portland I found my sister's trunk in Dr Glass possession he sent it to the depot

Riley Hardman was next called and in answer to questions propounded by Mr Thompson of counsel for the State said

I reside nine miles east of Albany Mary E Hardman was my sister am acquainted with Charles Mealey first saw Dr Glass about the 26th of last October I did not hear the conversation my brother had with Mealey concerning my sister's [illegible] until [illegible] when we came to Portland on Sunday, the 26th of October we went directly to Glass' office we met him in the hall and my brother asked him if he was Dr Glass he said yes and my brother asked him if my sister was there and told him that we had heard she was dead Glass said yes she was he said Mealey brought her there and was to give $250 and $15 a week my brother asked to see my sister's corpse and Glass told him he could not then that the body was in care of the undertaker that if we would call at 9 o clock we could see her He told us that she had been enceinte for eight months that the child had been dead eight days when she came there He said she died of bilious intermittent fever, and also spoke of a bottle of medicine which she brought with her when she came there He told us to call at 9 o clock He said my sister died about 2 o clock on Saturday morning I first found out where my sister was when I came to Portland that Sunday evening I had heard that she was at the Sisters School, did not find out what she was at Glass for till that Sunday.

In answer to interrogatories by Mr Williams counsel for defendant, on cross examination said

I don t know just when I learned that my sister had come to Portland I was at home when Circles came out my parents told me he had said she had come to Portland About the 11th, I received a letter from Mr Mealey requesting my father or brother to come to Albany I heard that my sister left home about the 10th of September, and that she talked of going to her sister's Did not learn her condition till that Sunday Dr Glass gave my brother a letter the day we came down and said Here's the letter you wrote to her and said she appeared to become worse after she read the letter that she got out of bed and lay on the floor I have not seen the letter since and don t know where it is.

On the direct examination being resumed the witness said

When Dr Glass gave my brother the letter and told him that my sister got worse after she read it my brother said he did not think it was a harsh letter—that he thought it was a cheering letter

VINCENT CIRCLES

Being sworn testified I reside at Albany knew deceased about three years Know Chas Mealey have known him for eight or ten years saw him and deceased walking out to the depot at Albany on the 5th of October—Sunday I think it was Mary Hardman was a cousin to my wife She was a medium sized woman weighing 135 or 140 pounds black hair and black eyes and would perhaps be called dark complexioned She was very good looking and perhaps a little above medium height It was on Sunday about 12 o clock when I saw her get on the train at Albany I noticed nothing in her appearance to indicate sickness or pregnancy at the time, though I had heard talk and looked particularly to see it I could She merely spoke to me and smiled as she usually did She was perhaps at the depot fifteen minutes before the train started don t know who bought the ticket When they went on the train she either had hold of Mr Mealey's hand or arm

On cross examination Mr Circles said Don t know what was the age of deceased think she was eighteen or nineteen years old did not see but she looked as well as ever After the train started I went and got a buggy and with my wife went to Mr Hardman's and told them that Mary had gone down the road with Mr Mealey and that they had better look after her and that they would probably find her at Glass office in Portland I never told Mr Barnes, of Albany that this case was probably similar to Montgomery's, or that the same medicine killed Mary Hardman that killed Martha Tupper

On the direct examination being resumed the witness said I did tell Mr Barnes that I thought probably this case was similar to the Montgomery case but did not say a bottle had been found in her trunk which contained ergot Father Mr Barnes or myself mentioned ergot as the medicine which had killed Martha Tupper I don t know which one named it though I know ergot was mentioned

SAMUEL HARDMAN

Being called was sworn and testified

Reside nine miles east of Albany am father of deceased She was 19 years old on the 28th of June last I received a letter from defendant about the 19th or 20th of October I think my oldest son (Benjamin) gave me the letter The following letter was then identified by the witness and read to the jury by Mr Thompson

PORTLAND, October 17 18[illegible]

MR S HARDMAN—Dear Sir At the request of your daughter I write these lines to you and wishing to inform you that she has been very sick with bilious gastro intermittent fever and I had all to do to save her, but now she is getting over it and will be able to be up in a day or so She would have wrote herself but of course was could not. She would like to see some of them if possible as soon as able she will write herself and tell you more particulars She also wishes me to tell you that she never knew what it was to be sick but now she has had experience and if no one can come to be sure and write. Yours respectfully

DR C G GLASS
Corner Washington and 1st sts
Portland Oregon

The examination of the witness being resumed he said

My daughter left home about September 10th first learned that she came to Portland from Circles, who saw her get on the cars heard nothing more till my son got the few lines from Mr Mealey asking one of us to come to Albany These lines were received before I got the letter from Glass It was two weeks after Circles said she was gone down the road before I heard where she was I knew nothing of her condition except what Mealey told my son who told me I saw my daughter's trunk examined but saw no bottle saw some dresses one dark one don t know how many altogether My daughter was about five feet four inches tall

On cross examination witness said

Mr Conly of Albany told me my daughter [illegible] She might have said she was at Mrs Gardner's [illegible] Mrs Gardner was [illegible] wife [illegible] Mrs Gardner [illegible] suppose was Mrs Mealey who said she thought my daughter had gone [illegible] The first I heard that she was at Dr Glass was when I got word to come to Albany On cross examination [illegible] he didn t know that Circles told him he would find her at Dr Glass

[illegible]

[illegible] Albany [illegible] Mealey [illegible] 5th of October get on the train together at Albany [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Mary E Hardman [illegible] of October [illegible] Mealey [illegible] Mary Hardman [illegible]

[illegible] Mrs Hardman [illegible]

could not see his face, he was not a fleshy man.

In answer to questions propounded by the Court witness stated that the lady came about 8 30 o clock P M and that witness had no speciality in medicine

HORATIO COOKE

Testified as follows Am an undertaker am acquainted with Dr Glass he gave me an order for a coffin and hearse on the 25th of October said it was for a woman this was about a quarter to 4 o clock, about 4 o clock I went to his office and procured the body it was laid out on the bed don t think she had been dead more than two hours as the body was warm at the time agreed on (11 o P M) the body was put in the coffin and taken to my shop by myself and Mr Ewers assisted by Dr Glass the body was limber at that time I think it bent at the hips it was left at my shop until Monday morning

DR ROSENK

Testified in substance That Dr Glass had called upon him subsequent to the death of Miss Hardman and asked that witness should certify that she had died of bilious fever and that he had refused to give such certificate that he had seen and examined the deceased in Dr Glass office on the 24th of Oct

[We think the publication of the evidence of the physicians in the case would not subserve the interest of justice and is therefore omitted.]

Dr Rosenk testified however that from the examination made he believed her death was caused by metritis or inflammation of the womb that the examination made lasted only ten minutes that she could not have died from hemmorrhage after he saw her

DR D B RICE,

Who made the autopsy in company with Drs Loughton and Harris, testified That he found the lungs heart liver and spleen in a very healthy condition and perfectly natural, except the bloodlessness of those organs that he never made a post mortem examination of a more healthy subject He gave it as his opinion that if death had been produced by bilious intermittent fever the organs most affected would have been the liver and the spleen He had examined the uterus carefully and found signs of violence and rough usage He formed the opinion from the examination as a medical man that Mary E Hardman died of hemmorrhage consequent upon the delivery of a foetus six months old

The remainder of Dr Rice's testimony on direct examination—like that of Dr Rosenk's —was descriptive of matters not proper for publication in our judgment His cross examination will begin this morning at 7 o clock to which time the Court stands adjourned

AMUSEMENTS.

One of the finest social affairs given by the Washington Guard was held last evening at their Armory The popular ball was crowded with a full representation of people who delight in dancing and when the music which was really entrancing, began to float upon the air almost every person seemed to participate This was due in great measure to the management, who aimed to have all mingle in the mazy dance Graham prompted when occasion required We were pleased to observe among those present Gen Jeff C Davis and staff in uniform as well as representatives from the various military companies who were also attired in full dress uniform The Washington Guard have cause to congratulate themselves on the success of the affair of last evening

A NOVEL LIFE-BOAT

A MARINE CURIOSITY WHICH WILL NEITHER SINK NOR BREAK

The Liverpool [illegible] of October 9th has the following:

A maritime community will be considerably [illegible] to hear that a real life-boat, which will neither sink nor break, has at length been invented, and that like all useful inventions it is simple [illegible] imaginable. As it has not yet been [illegible] though it [illegible] the [illegible] inventor [illegible] Lifeboat, of Liverpool.

The boat is constructed on a new principle. [illegible] galvanized iron nor pliable bamboo, but the common article which we used [illegible] in our school-days, though now destined [illegible] to save our lives in maturity [illegible]. This is not a promising material for constructing a boat, but that is the inventor's merit. Out of cane he has made the most useful boat extant. The [illegible] is woven like wicker ware, comparatively pervious to the water when her [illegible] and [illegible] cut, is through a [illegible] sieve, so that the new boat instead of keeping the water out lets it in and lets it out [illegible]. This wicker frame stout [illegible] is lined up with a lining of cork, [illegible] the boat can be [illegible] and has been [illegible] crammed with [illegible] without sinking, and with comparatively little displacement.

Of course the boat's crew and their ship-wrecked friends would not be obliged to stand on the wicker bottom hip deep in water; that mode of rescue would be little better than drowning. The boat is constructed with a double keel which gives an elevated flooring, also of cane-wicker, this false bottom being high enough to afford a dry footing above the level of the water outside (and inside) this floating ridicule. When the boat "ships a sea," as any boat must in a rough surf, the water floods the wicker floor and of course drains off instantly, for water cannot stand on a sieve. This quality is important, but not the most important, as poor Jack knows. In rescuing persons from a ship in a rough sea the great, we may say the fatal, difficulty is to prevent the mere cockle shell of a boat from being stove in against the ship's side. How can this be avoided? Granting the lowering tackle to be perfect, if the boat is to be put into the water she must be knocked about by the waves or the swell, and any holiday voyager can imagine what this means in circumstances where lives have to be rescued from a disabled ship. The difficulty, therefore, is not overcome by ingenious tackle for lowering; the difficulty consists in the hard and breakable material of the boat itself. Where a boat of wood or iron would have its side cracked or broken by a heavy crash against the ship, a cane-wicker boat would bound off uninjured, certainly unbroken, still no worse for sailing and saving life. This is the peculiar triumph of this new life boat. You may [illegible] side you may chop away the bow, you may cut off the keel, still her buoyancy is unimpaired and she is as good for her work as before. Can that be done to any other boat to which life has to be intrusted in a perilous sea?

The trial boat was exhibited yesterday on a lorry near the Town Hall for a short time before noon, and was then launched in the river sans ceremonie. It was a rough-and-tumble baptism and no mistake, for the boat took a line from the Agincourt, by favor of the Liverpool Steam tug Co., and steaming off sharply, the boat was pulled clean off the lorry with her crew of six, and plunging [illegible] the tide, as bold as a diver takes a header, came up trim and lively, half-filled, and one man completely douched, the others wet variously, and a general chorus of applauding laughter from a miscellaneous crowd. Of course the water above the wicker floor drained through instantly, so that in a minute the men were standing on a dry floor, and [illegible] ing surprised to find themselves floating so comfortably. The boat was literally tumbled into the river a height of sixteen to twenty feet, in order to demonstrate her behavior under the worst conditions and her lively independence of any "lowering apparatus." The tug now "let go the painter," and the scratch crew in the new boat put their oars into the rowlocks and pulled about in a pretty rough tide. She went very steadily, and seemed about as light as any ordinary boat.

Mr. Davis and Mr. King then resolved to sink their property, if overcrowding would do it. They got into it as many as could stand up anyhow—about fifty five—and the boat was so far from sinking that double the weight might possibly have proved insufficient. This showed the boat might be overcrowed without [illegible] What a different tale there would have been to tell if three or four boats of this kind had been attached to the Northfleet. The Agincourt once more took the lifeboat in tow, and steamed at full speed down the stream to the tower, and back to the George's stage, the boat riding the wash in admirable style, satisfying even the cynicism of nautical critics and putting some amateurs in ecstasy. As to the boat's dimensions, she is twenty five feet long, three feet four inches deep, with eight foot beam, her weight being about twenty hundred weight, or say one-third the weight of an ordinary boat of equal capacity. At either end is a water tight tank for provisions. She is fitted with the usual valves required by the Board of Trade, but these are practically unnecessary in a wicker-work lifeboat. We shall watch with interest the progress of this admirable invention.

THAT FORTUNE IN HOLLAND.

THE WESTERN HEIRS OF THE DEARLY LOVED ANNEKE JANS CLAMOROUS FOR THEIR OWN—A STORMY MEETING OF THE HEIRS.

[From the Chicago [illegible] of Saturday, Nov. 1.]

There was a meeting of western heirs, suppositious and otherwise, to the Anneke Jans real estate in New York city, at the Anderson hotel, on yesterday afternoon. There were present 16 ladies and as many men. On motion Dr. Crook was called upon to preside. He was astonished at the honor. Then he said there was no question but that the Trinity church property is owned by persons scattered all over the country. They should establish their claims. The [illegible] powers who hold this property ought to be shown that they cannot despoil the inhabitants of this free land of their inherited rights.

Then it was decided to elect a secretary. It took the meeting some time to induce some clever soul to keep a record of their doings. Meanwhile the women folks gossiped, and paid no attention whatever to the frantic appeals of the chairman. Finally a man was found who was willing to serve as secretary, and then another man made a statement.

A CHILD [illegible] STARTED UP.

He said he had been employed by a few persons who claimed to be heirs to visit New York. From Israel Brower he had obtained valuable information. But there was one thing he wished understood at the beginning, and that was that the persons present might be able to show themselves direct descendants and yet not be entitled to a share in the property. He had not come to deceive them. The will of Sarah Weber, [illegible] Anneke Jans, was proved A. D. 1810, and at that time it amounted to £36,000 or about $180,000. This sum was willed to the third generation and in the meantime the Government of Holland took charge of it, and holds it still, subject to the claim of the heirs. The government made no contest, but would pay it over to the proper parties. These proper parties must be the direct descendants of Sarah Weber. The will of Walford Weber, Sarah's grandson, was executed in the year 1700. His descendants alone inherit this money, Walford being the only heir, two children—Walford, Jr., and Sarah, his sister. In 1697 Walford, Jr., married; his sister married in 1706. Thus it would seem that they would have to prove a lineage of only about 161 years.

The meeting had been called on the [illegible] of who are prosecuting the claim against Trinity [illegible]. The object was to elect delegates to represent the western heirs at a convention to be held Oct. 16.

In answer to a question, Mr. McCausland said the will of Windslap Bogardus had not yet been found, but that it would be discovered.

Mr. Jenks said the expected wealth did not cause him to feel important. He was present as a representative of a good old lady, who was at home weeping over the loss of [illegible] and near relatives Sarah and Walford Weber.

THE SPEAKER WAS SATISFIED

he was working for another. He moved that McCausland be appointed their delegate to at[illegible].

Mr. McCausland was elected. In accepting the position he said he would ask nothing for his [illegible] but he must have his expenses paid.

THEN CAME THE [illegible]

How much should each heir be assessed? It was voted to assess each one who desired to be represented at the convention. The sum of $[illegible] each was agreed upon.

Mrs. Cooper said she [illegible] pay a thing. She had used up [illegible] Besides [illegible] now she had [illegible] any 20 heirs in the State.

A very handsome young lady from Milwaukee [illegible] that [illegible] Whereupon [illegible] that but for the [illegible] they would have been [illegible]

The course of [illegible] displayed by the bankers and capitalists until Congress meets and determines on some course of action will be one of strict conservatism. There will be two leading propositions before the law making power of the nation at its next session. One is in general the permission of all holders of United States stocks to get notes for them at the Treasury and to return the notes for stocks at pleasure, the only limit to these issues to be the amount of stocks outstanding, the interest on the bonds to cease while they are held by the Treasury for notes.

Connected with this scheme is that which was introduced in Congress in 1872. That proposed first that the Government should get in $100,000,000 coin as a fund in which to redeem its legal tenders on presentation. Second, that the National Banks should redeem their notes in those specie legal tenders on demand. Third, all limit to bank circulation to be removed. Each to issue as many notes secured on U. S. stocks as it chose, under the obligation to redeem them in legal tenders on presentation. The position might then be this: The Treasury, with $100,000,000 in gold, issues $[illegible] legal tenders. The banks hold $[illegible] of the legal tenders as reserve and might issue $[illegible] or as much as they could float of notes redeemable in legal tenders, which are redeemable in coin. Fifth, Congress to authorize a bank of $5,000,000, or more, capital to be located in New York. The capital to be taken by other banks only, each not more than 1 per cent. This bank to be central redeeming agent for all country bank notes in legal tenders. No bank under any pretense to allow its notes to remain uncovered at this agency. This scheme combines the banking [illegible] and has a part of the Bank of the English system, and also of the old New England Suffolk system of Redemption.

Miscellaneous.

The price of Quicksilver has advanced in London to [illegible] per flask of 75 pounds. It has risen from £10 on the 4th of October. This is the effect of the diminished production of California, which has left but little surplus for the markets of the world and forced them to draw upon London for larger supplies at a time when the Spanish mine is doing nothing and stocks are very low. The New Almaden mine has exerted itself to meet the demand and profit by the high prices obtainable as far as possible.

The telegraph reports that the Director of the Mint will in his annual report, take strong grounds against the restoration of the double standard of gold and silver. This is a matter of course, nobody [illegible] There is [illegible] but that the Director of the Mint will sustain the single standard of silver with gold alloy proposed by Mr. Garnett, because that has become [illegible]

Barley is scarcely known as a crop in the following States: Rhode Island, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and Tennessee. The greatest increase as compared with last year's crop is secured in Oregon, being 10 per cent., while the greatest loss, 28 per cent., falls to Minnesota. A general average of 88 per cent. of last year's crop is indicated by the returns of the Agricultural Department.

The Internal Revenue receipts for the month of October, according to a Washington statement, were $[illegible] as compared with $9,301,163, for the same month last year.

The Vienna Neue Freie Presse of October 8th, says: A few days ago the best cask of Rhine wine, Schloss Johannisberg Auslese (wine from selected grapes) was sold in the cellar of Prince Metternich. The price paid for it is undoubtedly the highest that ever was paid in the Rheingau. The cask, containing 1,400 bottles, brought fl. 28,000, fl. 20 per bottle. The lucky buyer is Consul Bauer, who purchased the wine for his house in Moscow. The price paid for the cask in our money is about $[illegible] or $[illegible] per bottle.

The quantity of syrup produced by the sugar refineries in San Francisco has been for some time past far in [illegible] of the market. Efforts have been made to dispose of the surplus by reducing the price to a very low figure, but without effecting the object. Propositions have been made to the Railroad Company to load a train of cars for Chicago and St. Louis, but freight charges are too high. Recently 1,000 bbls has been shipped to New York and now the proprietors of the California Sugar Refinery have secured the German bark Elisa Schmidt [illegible] tons to take a full cargo to Hamburg.

Home [illegible] Market.

WHEAT—The market is still quiet and large transactions are few, owing to a want of understanding between holders and exporters, the former contending for $2 per cental and the latter generally declining to advance on $1 90, though rumors reach us of prices being paid in the interior which would place the cereal at over $2 in this market, sacked, on which basis quotations are made. The receipts during a few days past have very materially increased, and should the present rains continue and open the Upper Wallamet to boats great quantities now in store are likely to come forward soon. The San Francisco market continues to harden.

FLOUR—The shipments are increasing, each outgoing steamer carrying considerable lots, besides large quantities by sailing vessels being sent to San Francisco. The large ship Cutwater, now about due, will take near [illegible] tons for Liverpool direct. Our local market is quite firm at $[illegible] bbl for standard brands of extra [illegible] for country and outside brands [illegible] extra superfine [illegible] for superfine. The home trade is steady and maintains an increasing volume.

OATS—The demand for local consumption is quite firm and prices seem a little inclined to harden under the light receipts. The advance in Wheat tends to produce neglect of the Oat market, and hence comparatively little attention seems to be paid the latter just now. All offering, however, finds ready sale at [illegible] cents [illegible] of good quality. Shipments are light.

BARLEY—There is no important new feature in the market, prices being steady at $1 [illegible] per cental. The demand for home consumption is not more than supplied by the receipts, which are not heavy.

HAY—With the approach of winter prices are beginning to show an advancing tendency and good [illegible] has been sold at $1[illegible] per ton, though quotable generally at [illegible] less loose from wagons [illegible]

POTATOES—There is no lack in the supply, and prices very low. We quote the range of the market at [illegible] per bushel, the latter only for best varieties.

[illegible]—Market dull and transactions limited to present wants of the trade, though indications are favorable for [illegible]

APPLES—The very heavy receipts noticed in the [illegible] mixed lots from wagons sell at [illegible] per bushel, assorted and packed in boxes for shipping, [illegible] quotations average [illegible] per box.

DRIED FRUIT—The receipts are increasing and the market is very well supplied with apples and plums, the former quotable at [illegible] per lb and the latter at [illegible]

BACON—The import [illegible] of Eastern and California hams continues to supply a want which ought to be filled at home. Sides [illegible] at [illegible] per pound, at [illegible] while Oregon cured hams and shoulders are now quite [illegible]

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

THIS BANK HAS ESTABLISHED IN CONNECTION with the general Banking Business a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT, and will allow interest on [illegible] in Deposits made in accordance with the conditions adopted by the Association.

In establishing a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT this Banking Association has in view the benefits to accrue to a class of persons having small sums to loan, by providing a safe place of deposit, ample security and fair rate of interest, as well as to aggregate and bring into use idle capital.

For the safety of deposits in this Bank are pledged its entire capital and resources, and also the personal liability of its Directors and Stockholders, as provided by Section 12 of the National Currency Act, approved June 3, 1864, a greater security than that given by ordinary Savings Banks. Printed copies of the conditions upon which deposits are received may be had upon application at the Bank.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing, and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Disease.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system? Look at the pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases [illegible] in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, the [illegible] apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter, through the Post office or through Wells Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Postoffice Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN. jy6d4p
